Aurora Architecture's Contribution and Responsibilities:

As supporting architect to an engineering firm, David M. Settle provided design development, contract documentation, and bid and construction administration services for the 3066 square feet, three story addition for the Department of Communication and Theatre's Dutcher Hall. The addition provided lobbies, a box office, restrooms and an emergency exit enclosure for the Rafter Theatre located on the third floor of the historic structure. The design strived to replicate the original appearance of the building through the use of similar materials and fenestration. The project explored the use of the pond as a geothermal heat exchange, but was not pursued in the final project.
